FROM THE HEADMASTER

CAR PARKING

Though it may not seem so during the rush of drop-off and pick-up, but we are incredibly blessed with the number of car parking places and areas to collect our children.

Safety is paramount for us and is the responsibility of the whole community. The top car park, adjacent to the Music Centre and YMCA is a staff, visitors and people with disabilities car park. There is an increasing number of parents using it as a drop-off and pick-up zone, even though it is clearly sign posted and marked otherwise.

We have witnessed a number of near misses with children running across the car park to get into their parents' waiting vehicle. There is also increased congestion in this area caused by parents using the end of the top car park as a drop-off zone, even though it is sign posted as a "no stopping" zone. This is creating a dangerous situation.

I appreciate that lives are busy, but the safety of our children is more important than convenience. Could I ask you to support the School by using the designated car parking and drop off zones, and not use the top car park. You can drop-off or pick-up at the roundabout behind the Tooth Admin Building, the lower car park, or the Attunga Street car park, an extensive drop-off and pick-up zone.

Thank you for your support.

TEEN SLEEP HABITS

Dr Seton is a Paediatric and Adolescent Sleep Physician who works at Westmead Children's Hospital. Dr Seton's special interests include Adolescent Sleep Deprivation and the relationship between sleep and learning in children.

I sat in on a webinar last week, in which Dr Seton provided some quite alarming information about adolescent sleep, or the lack thereof.

The latest science suggests that 12-18 year-olds require 9 hours sleep per night. Dr Seton acknowledged that it is a very hard sell, trying to tell your 16 year-old that they need to go to bed at the same time as their 12 year-old little sister, but there you are.

Research suggests that 70% of Australian teens are sleep-deprived. Are you wondering about your teens? Signs that they are sleep-deprived include needing to have long sleep-ins on the weekend (in an effort to catch up on their sleep debt) and being extremely hard to get out of bed in the morning.

You won't be surprised to hear that the following are thought to contribute to this epidemic of sleep-deprivation –

1. Social connectedness via electronic devices, and the "fear of missing out" if they aren't on their devices late into the evening.
2. Body clocks that operate differently (later) in adolescence may mean that some teens struggle to get to sleep at night.
3. A combination of ambition, stress and over-scheduling can result in high levels of adrenalin and cortisol in the blood-stream, which works against getting to sleep.

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF FAITH & COMMUNITY

The rate of sleep-deprivation in teenagers is thought to have doubled in the last 15 years. Is it just a coincidence that similar increases have also been seen in the incidence of mental health problems in adolescents? What is certain is that adequate sleep, good nutrition and plenty of exercise are essential for both physical and mental health and wellbeing.

So what can parents do? Dr Seton suggested that parents have a straight conversation with their kids, and negotiate some sleep-promoting rules, such as –

1. Homework & study must be efficient – no use of mobile devices during this time as they are too distracting.
2. Agree on a time (and a time-limit) for accessing social media and playing online games.
3. Bed is for sleeping only. No mobile devices in the bedroom.
4. Bed-time means lights out and a mobile device curfew.
5. In fact, screens should be shut down one hour before you intend trying to get to sleep.

For more information, you can visit Dr Seton's website - <http://thesleepconnection.com.au/>

SERVICE LEARNING COMMITTEE UPDATE

The final Service Learning Project of the year was completed last week with a group from the Service Learning Committee providing school lunches for primary school students at Bald Hills State School. The project follows on from an initiative started in 2017 and was driven by two year ten students who had seen the benefits of the program last year. Gracie Manderson and Jessica Baldwin led the project, co-ordinating with Bald Hills State School's chaplain, purchasing the materials needed to prepare the lunches and then organizing the production of the sandwiches and snacks that were delivered to Bald Hills on Monday afternoon.

INNOVATION FOR IMPACT

On Thursday 18 October, 76 Year 10 Business Students saw with their own eyes, the largest Brisbane Lifeline distribution centre in action. This operation is just one of the many ways Lifeline Retail is able to contribute $8 million annually to their Lifeline crisis support and suicide prevention business.

To support their vision of an 'Australia free of suicide', Lifeline is seeking to increase its funding of services. Lifeline Executives engaged our youthful, innovative and creative student minds to assist their brainstorming. They welcomed our students with open arms, showing and describing to us the amazing work they do. More importantly, they shared with us their current dilemmas and potential opportunities as they seek to increase revenue to provide greater funding for their Lifeline Services.

Students now have the challenge of presenting an innovative solution to address the problem they found most interesting and exciting! So what would an innovative solution look like? We have challenged them to apply 'fresh thinking that creates value' for Lifeline and the community (Richard Lyons, 2008). Read more HERE.

YEAR 3 DESIGN SYMPOSIUM – #Y3D2018

Last week our Year 3 students partnered with Brisbane Airport Corporation to design the airport of the future.

The students used design thinking to consider the transport needs of future passengers and creative thinking to come up with innovative solutions.

Some of the ideas were really off the wall - like a zipline that connects the airport to Mt Coot-tha, or children's play areas within the main terminal.

Thanks to our students' comfortableness with ambiguity and creative dispositions, they have come up with some wonderful ideas that could influence Brisbane Airport's future planning for years to come.

SPS FEST!

SPS Fest is over for another year, and it was awesome! Thank you so much to all the people who worked so hard to make it happen, particularly the Music Captains, the Music Tech crew and Mr Cotgreave for organising and setting up activities throughout the week, as well as Friday night's competition.

The SPS Fest Band and Solo/Duo Comp was the most hard-fought competition yet, making it very difficult for last-minute judge Thomas Green (thanks Tom!) to decide on the winners. In the end, though everyone was amazing, the following people came away with places;

BAND SECTION:

- 1st - Full Distortion Elliot Nutter, Harry Lee, Josh Mellor, Zack Keleher, Billie Kugelman
- 2nd - SMVSH - Sameel Deoji, Michael Alletsee, Josh Crawford, Tom Riley, Tim Buchanan
- 3rd - Undecided - Cheyenna Davidson-Collins, Zara Narayan, Kathryn Payne

SOLO/DUO SECTION:

- 1st - Grace Spinks
- 2nd - The Maybees - Ebony Riley and Riley Yorston
- 3rd - tied! - Alex Harper and Josh Crawford

Congratulations to all the performers and thanks for an excellent night of music.

COMPETITION SUCCESS

The annual interschools MusicFest competition, run by Prestige Music, is currently on and many of ensembles are competing (or have competed). On Monday night Concert Band gave a brilliant performance that earned them a highly coveted Platinum Award and first in their section which is a wonderful achievement. Lento Strings also received a Gold Award for their performance last weekend.

The St Columbans Concert Band Spectacular was held last weekend at which Vivo Strings and Wind Ensemble received first and third place in their respective sections. Congratulations to all of our musicians and to their directors – Mrs Gibbs, Mr Allen and Mr Weal – for their hard work.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR CELEBRATION OF ACHIEVEMENT

CONGRATULATIONS to all the wonderful musicians who received instrumental and ensemble awards at our very first Extra-Curricular Celebration of Achievement last night. A special shout out goes to the recipients of the two major Music awards; Josh Crawford, who received the John K Stebhens Award (Year 7-9 Contribution to Music), this year's Outstanding Contribution to Music recipient, Elliot Nutter. These two guys are fixtures of the Music Department and we appreciate the particular effort that they've given to the program and ensembles this year.

We were so proud to see the efforts of our music students being acknowledged by the school community. The stunning performance from Concert Band, and the collaboration between Dance Troupe and Big Band for a beautiful rendition of Michael Jackson's 'Man In The Mirror' gave the evening such a sense of occasion. Thank you to Mr Allen and Miss Cahill for working with the students to bring everything together for these performances. Thank you also to Head of Sport Development Mr Hughes, Mrs Fraser, Miss Davidson, Mr Cotgreave and the Music Tech students, and everyone who helped make the inaugural event such an integrated celebration of the holistic education that we strive for at St Paul's.

CHRISTMAS CASUAL JOBS – WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

The working lives of some of our most successful Australians have common elements including this – for many, their first job was casual work over the Christmas season.

It's a great way to start in the workforce – a time away from school exams, a time to learn more about life and a time when handy wages arrive in your bank account for the Christmas break.

Many St Paul's students have enjoyed their casual jobs over summer. While St Paul's helps students to gain an education worth having, we understand the importance of combining that with experience outside the school gate.

But getting that job isn't always easy. There are usually more applicants than positions available. And not every job suits every person. So, what are the keys to getting employment over the summer?

AWKWARD THIRTEEN

I once heard someone say, "If parenting isn't hard, then you are not doing it right!" I agree. Parenting is hard. Especially if you are doing it right! Parenting can be wonderful and challenging all at the same time. The key is experiencing the wonderful parts more often! Parenting takes constant thought and careful consideration, especially as our children take the leap into adolescence. Just as our children are navigating this new thing called adolescence, so are parents, who realise they need to develop a whole new skill set to support the changes in their teenager. Michael Grose, leading Australian parenting expert, provides a sensible approach to parenting a 13-year old. If your child is past this age, it can be helpful to make sense of what may have been an exciting age and confirm changes you observed and supported your child through. If you are about to embark on the teen years, I highly recommend this article! Being forewarned is being forearmed.
