Online sessions

Every school term

We, a dedicated team of volunteers, run free computer coding clubs for children aged 7 to 17. We operate at some Brisbane City Council libraries every school term. Sometimes online, too.

Calling for Kids and volunteers

We need more kids, and more volunteers. We have the capacity to take on more kids at the moment. We are also calling for more volunteers to join us to keep the programme alive.

Explore and have fun

We try to run our activities less like lessons at school, and more like a club where kids can try out new things and have fun.
